≡ Announcement. ≡

SO much has been written about St. Augustine, Florida, with its incomparable winter climate, and of the magnificent Ponce de Leon Hotel, with its every luxurious appointment, that the management feels that the simple announcement that the PONCE DE LEON, the ALCAZAR, and the CORDOVA Hotels will be open for the reception of guests early in January, 1889, will be quite sufficient. It would take volumes to describe the architectural beauties of these Spanish-Moresque palaces, set amidst the luxuriance of the orange, the palm and the olive, and when all had been written, there would still be beauties and attractions which had been overlooked.

While the courts, plazas, marbles, mosaics, fountains, verandas and adornments are Spanish of the Renaissance period, the

*Whoe'er has traveled life's dull round,
Where'er his stages may have been;
May sigh to think he still has found,
The warmest welcome at an inn.*

The Alcazar, an adjunct to the Ponce de Leon Hotel, and a complete hotel in itself, contains in its swimming pools, Russian, Turkish and Electric baths, tropical gardens, tennis courts, casino, cafe, concert rooms and music—every element for the dissipation of ennui and the perfect enjoyment of a most charming midwinter climate.

It is with confidence, therefore, that we invite you to the luxuries of these palaces—to the hospitalities of the PONCE DE LEON, the ALCAZAR, and the CORDOVA. Address
